In September of each year, DMV shall furnish the State Election Commission an electronic file of the name, address, date of birth, social security number, sex, and race of persons who are over the age of eighteen years and citizens of the United States residing in each municipality who hold a valid South Carolina driver's license or an identification card issued pursuant to state law. The electronic file also must include persons who have obtained a valid South Carolina driver's license or identification card during the previous year and exclude persons whose driver's license or identification card during the previous year and excluded persons whose driver's license or identification card has not been renewed or has been invalidated by judicial or administrative action. When the legislation was passed, the DMV did not collect information that would pertain to if a person lived inside or outside of a municipality. With the assistance of geographic information systems, RFA is able to determine the location of a driver's license, or I.D. card holder's residence. With the location and municipal boundaries furnished by the S.C. Department of Transportation, RFA can make the determination if a person lives inside or outside any incorporated limits.	9,425.00
